In line with the abovementioned process of internationalization, the School of Law has built a detailed program for incoming and outgoing staff and to coordinate foreign students during their Erasmus+ activities. The School of Law organizes meetings to put incoming and outgoing Erasmus students in contact in order to share their experiences.

The School of Law offers two specific programs in English relevant for international students: the Peacekeeping Curriculum and the Comparative Law of Business Organizations Curriculum. In addition to these two courses, the School of Law offers Erasmus+ Jean Monnet Modules as part of its didactic activity.

The School of Law has an International Commission whose task is to support both students and staff in their international applications and activities.

Students interested in international mobility programs can address the 'Angels' (tutors) of the School of law for general information. As part of the Welcome Desk project of the University the Bicocca, Angels help incoming and outgoing students during their whole mobility period.

International activities of the School of Law

At University of Milano-Bicocca (UNIMIB), internationalization is seen as a process and added value to improve teaching, research, and services through international engagement, enhancing academic offer as well as globally focused research and providing leadership at the central and department level to strengthen the culture of internationalization. To accomplish the same, we endeavour to build on our existing strengths and resources; at the same time invest in internal capacity building and strengthening services that cut across several areas of our institution. In the recent years, UNIMIB has been instrumental in increasing the scope of international mobility through double/joint degree programs, Erasmus+, Extra-EU agreements, summer schools etc. within the academic 1st, 2nd cycle, Master degrees, and doctorate programs.
