

David Kretzmer, LL.B, LL.M (Jerusalem), Dr. Jur. (York, Canada), Dr. Jur. h.c. (Potsdam), is Professor Emeritus of International Law at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem and Professor of Law at Sapir College School of Law, Sderot. He has been a visiting professor at Columbia University, Tulane University, University of Southern California, the Fletcher School of Tufts University and the University of Ulster. In 2009/10 he was an Inaugural Fellow at the Straus Institute for the Advanced Study of Law and Justice at NYU School of Law. David was a member of the UN Human Rights Committee from 1995-2002, serving as vice-chairperson of the Committee in 2001 and 2002. He is an honorary Commissioner of the International Commission of Jurists.

David's main fields of research are constitutional law, human rights and international humanitarian law. His books include The Occupation of Justice: The Supreme Court of Israel and the Occupied Territories (SUNY Press, 2002); The Concept of Human Dignity in Human Rights Discourse (edited together with E. Klein) (Kluwer International, 2002) and The Legal Status of the Arabs in Israel (2nd edition, 2002). His most recent articles deal with use of force, proportionality in ius ad bellum, terrorism in occupied territories, the rights of LGBTs in international law, the right to life in international law and the historical development of the UN Human Rights Committee.